Minority Tory administration ousted by coalition

TAKEOVER AT COUNCIL

by Michael Cox

southend@yellowad.co.uk

OPPOSITION groups have jointly taken control of Southend Council – less than a month after the Conservatives formed a minority administration.

The Labour, Independent and Liberal Democrat groups on the council have agreed to come together for a joint administration.

May's local election saw the council slip into no overall control and the Tories took the helm after the Independents failed to back an opposition coalition.

But a dramatic turn of events has now seen the opposition take control of the council.

Five Independent councillors requested an extraordinary council meeting, which took place on Monday night, for the removal of council leader Tony Cox and to appoint a replacement.

The new council leader is Cllr Ian Gilbert, who heads the Labour group, which has the second largest number of seats on the council with 14.

Cllr Gilbert told Monday's meeting: "I think we all regret the particular circumstances that have led us to this meeting at this particular point."

"We now have an agreement which delivers what I genuinely believe to be what the majority of people at the election voted for."

Cllr Ron Woodley is deputy leader of the council, while Lib Dem leader Cllr Carole Mulrone also features on the cabinet.

The members of the cabinet have been reduced to seven from nine, with three positions to both Labour and the Independents, as well as one for the Lib Dems.

Cllr Gilbert said: "People in Southend voted for change, and it is now clear that the Conservatives are unable to command the support of a majority of councillors."

"The Labour, Independent and Liberal Democrat groups have come to an agreement that guarantees a stable administration for a year.

"We have reached broad agreement on policies which we believe will deliver for people right across the borough."

Among the administration's planned programme for Southend includes new social housing provision, introduction of 20mph zones on residential streets, providing extra care beds and carrying out a parking review.

Cllr Woodley said: "I am confident that the three groups will achieve all the priorities that we have set out in this joint statement."

It is not the first time the three groups have come together to form an administration, with Cllr Woodley appointed as council leader in 2014 before the Conservatives regained control of the council after local elections in 2017.

In the weeks since they formed a minority administration, the Conservatives revealed 10 key policy proposals including funding for more special constables and free two hour parking in streets around the High Street.

Cllr Mulrone accused the Tory minority administration of trying to "curry favour" with residents through the proposals.

But she said that the new administration will defer their plans.

"We will take a sensible approach and rather than ditching them for the sake of it, we will defer the Tory proposals until we can see how they fit in with our own priorities."

"At the right time, we will make a considered and agreed policy announcement."

The YA contacted Southend Conservatives for comment but did not receive one at the time of going to press.

But Cllr Cox said during Monday's meeting that even Brian Clough got more time (44 days) during his infamous reign as manager of Leeds United in 1974 than the Tory minority administration.

Beach test result better but still not safe to bathe

by Charles Thomson

basildon@yellowad.co.uk

A SOUTHEND councillor described the results of recent water quality tests at a Leigh beach as “encouraging” - though advice against bathing remains in place.

Cllr Alex Bright, outgoing cabinet member for the environment on Southend Council, was speaking after sampling last month at Leigh Bell Wharf detected low levels of bacteria.

Testing on May 16 of the water quality found less than ten colony formed units (cfu) of the bacteria E.Coli and Intestinal Enterococci per 100ml of water.

On May 3, there were 36 cfu of E.Coli per 100ml and less than 10 cfu of Intestinal Enterococci.

The Y4 reported last month that the bathing water quality classification for Leigh Bell Wharf was downgraded to ‘poor’ and signs erected at the beach advising people against bathing there.

The signs, installed by the council, are an obligation as part of the European Union’s bathing water directive and will remain in place until the water quality classification improves.

The ‘poor’ bathing water standard is above 185 cfu per 100ml for Intestinal Enterococci or more than 500 cfu per 100ml for E.Coli based on the 90 percentile of samples over four years.

Cllr Bright felt the erection of the warning signs had “understandably” concerned visitors and residents.

But he said: “It is important to remember that these are placed based on historic water testing. ‘Testing is now being carried out each month and, now that we are in the bathing season, it is very encouraging to see the results for May continue the trend of improvement, with only very low levels of bacteria detected.’

“We continue to work with the Environment Agency and Anglian Water to investigate and put right any misconnected pipes from homes and businesses that may be sending waste to the wrong sewer.

“We’re also continuing to seek out any other reasons why pockets of contamination have happened in the past and prevent them in the future. It appears that this work is paying dividends.”

An Environment Agency spokesman added that results from this summer’s testing would be used to update the water quality classification at the end of the season.

“The results at Leigh Bell Wharf appear to be improving, but monitoring will continue over the summer, including any work to identify and stop any sources of contamination,” he said.

Anglian Water said last month the “poor” water quality rating is “likely to be the result of several sources of environmental pollution having a combined detrimental effect”.

“Together with Southend Council and the Environment Agency, we are using state-of-the-art technology including CCTV, dye tracing, sampling and on-foot surveys of the coastal area surrounding the bathing water to understand what is causing the issue,” a spokesman added.

Opposition coalition seizes control of Southend council

He added: “This administration has yet to hold a single meeting, been unable to implement a single decision yet a motion of no confidence was issued.”

Tory deputy group leader Meg

Davidson added: “This whole sorry episode has been very damaging to the reputation of the council and surely our residents deserve better than this.”

Non-aligned councillor Stephen Aylen, who was nominated for council leader but lost a vote to Cllr Gilbert by 27 votes to 15, said: “Democracy has totally gone out the window here as we held a vote and we decided who was going to run the council.

“A few days later we changed our mind.”

Independent councillor Martin Terry

felt there will be more coalition administrations in future.

“The one message from the electorate was they were sick and tired of the Conservative administration,” he said. “I am very optimistic we will be very successful.”

Hate crime against children up shock

HATE crimes against children in Essex have soared by 45 per cent in the three years since the Brexit vote, according to figures released by the NSPCC.

The rise in Essex was significantly higher than the national trend, which had seen hate crimes against children climb 20 per cent in the same time period.

The NSPCC said children were being abused over their race and told to "go back to their own country", and hate crimes were even being carried out against "babies and toddlers".

In the year 2015/16 there were 97 hate crimes against children logged by Essex Police, but in the year after the referendum it shot up 56 per cent to 151. In 2017/18 it remained 45 per cent higher than it had been, at 141.

The NSPCC obtained the data from Essex Police under the Freedom of Information (FOI) Act. Similar FOIs to other police forces revealed Essex Police recorded the second-highest rate of hate crimes against children in the east of England, beaten only by Thames Valley Police's jurisdiction.

Hate crime reports shot up across the UK in the wake of the EU referendum, with the number of reports increasing nationally by 29 per cent in the year after.

But in Essex the increase was almost double that. A 2018 report by Safer Essex said hate crimes across the county had fallen in the years up to 2016, but then rose by 60 per cent in 2016/17. The report identified the referendum, along-

The rise in Essex is significantly higher than the national trend side terror attacks, as having "incited" hate crimes.

In 2017, Basildon Council, Essex Police and other groups set up a Basildon Hate Crime Panel after a spike in offences, with hate crime reports rising in some areas of the borough by 60 per cent.

An internal Essex Police report, penned in June 2018, also said hate crimes were increasing in the county - but said Government cuts meant there were "insufficient resources" to tackle the problem.

In February, Essex Police, Fire and Crime Commissioner Roger Hirst announced he was giving more than £20,000 to Stop Hate UK, towards a dedicated 24-hour helpline for Essex hate crime victims.

The NSPCC said police reports did not account for all hate crimes against children, as some victims did not want to upset their parents so secretly sought help from charities, like the NSPCC's telephone helpline Childline, instead.

Childline boss John Cameron added: "Childhood bullying of this nature can cause long-term emotional harm and can create further divisions in our society."

"I would urge any child who is being targeted because of their race to contact Childline, and any adult to call the NSPCC Helpline if they are worried about a child."

Safety first on sea front

FAMILIES flocked to Southend during the half-term holiday to meet the emergency services during an event to promote safety.

The Be Safe fun day, which took place near to the fountains by City Beach, gave people the chance to find out more about the likes of Essex Police and Southend Coastguard during the event last Wednesday.

Organised by Southend Council, families were also able to learn information on how to keep their loved ones safe.

Deputy mayor Mark Flewitt opened the event and said: "It gives me great pleasure to come here and see first-hand the big picture and meet all the services who work so hard to keep us all safe."

"The more serious side of this event is that we are a seaside town, living beside an estuary which is made up of water and tides, and if it's not used properly and respected, can cause real serious issues."

ON THE CASE - BY EDWARD CASE

Now let me be perfectly clear...

THE European elections were billed as an indication of how a second referendum would pan out and predictably, even though the Brexit Party sailed in on a wave of protest from people angry at Parliament's sabotaging of Brexit, once again, the divide across the UK was emphasised with remainers claiming the voting showed a clear (beware of that word. In politics it means the opposite of how we use it in the real world) appetite for a "people's choice" vote.

Yes, the figures would appear to speak for themselves. People turned away from the two main parties in droves - there are now more MEPs called Alexandra Phillips than there are Labour or Conservatives representing the south east.

Ah, but if you add all the non-Brexit votes together - as if that's what you do in elections - then multiply by the number of days in a leap year and take away the number you first thought of, it clearly shows that there is a majority to remain.

The Lib Dems have even convinced themselves that all is forgiven.

The only thing clear (there it is again) is that some people, including most of Parliament, only believe in democracy when it suits them.

The effect on Labour and the Tories of this anticipated drubbing is that the blue corner is certain to appoint a hardline Brexiteer as its new leader with no deal coming firmly back onto the table, while the reds (who are led by a Marxist whose hatred of the EU has been a matter of record for decades) are to finally come down from that fence they've been sitting on for three years in favour of a second referendum and will haemorrhage betrayed voters as a result.

Labour numbers are dropping just from expulsions at the moment - from Alistair Campbell to a woman in her 90s - a Labour member for more than 70 years - expelled for co-signing her granddaughter's application to stand as a Green candidate.

Meanwhile, the party has another serious issue to face with the news that the Equalities and Human Rights Commission is to launch a formal investigation into whether it "unlawfully discriminated against, harassed or victimised people because they are Jewish".

The only other party to face such a probe by the EHRC is the British National Party.

What does that tell you about the Labour Party of 2019?

Even with the Tories imploding they still can't get their act together.

■ Regular readers of this column should be fully aware by now that when it comes to today's politicians I am non-partisan and equally derisive of all of them.

I find myself talking politics quite often here simply because, as I have said before, we're in a climate where more people are engaged with politics than ever before, yet at the same time there have never been so many left disenfranchised by the failures of this woeful Parliament.

I voted remain - contrary to what some seem to think - but how anyone voted became irrelevant to me once the result was announced because I value democracy more and, although we see it as our right, maybe if we looked upon it as a privilege most of this nonsense since could have been avoided.

Brexit is the nation's biggest talking point so as a columnist, not writing about it when something happens would be a dereliction of duty.

It's not as if I could ever have gone into politics myself - I just don't have the patience for all the bs (insert LIB DEM slogan here). I would have been the Joey Barton of the Commons.

Instead I appear to have become the Robbie Savage of columnists.

Back Pain And Sciatica Workshop – Back By Request...

“Are You Living With OR Worried About Someone Suffering With Chronic Back Pain?”

“Get Relief From Back Pain, Find Out What’s Going Wrong, Or Just Get A Solid Second Opinion, When You Attend This Free Back Pain Workshop?”

By Leading UK Back Pain Expert, Wendy McCloud

If you or a loved one is suffering from chronic back pain – so bad that it can even stop, you from walking – then I'd like to invite you to attend this free workshop which may best the most important thing you do this year. It may unlock the agonising mystery of your back pain and show you a way to get back to the life you had before back pain struck...

- A life where you can sleep at night without tossing and turning, hoping to find that one position where the pain stops.
- A life where when you wake up in the morning and it doesn't take 20 mins to get out of bed...And then another 20 minutes to get your slippers on because your back is feeling so stiff, tight and painful.
- A life where you can be confident that you can pick up and play with your children/grandchildren without worrying about if your back will "go out" or "spasm" which leaves you upset, frustrated or even depressed as you are now crippled either on the floor or in a chair scared to move.
- A life where you too can enjoy all the other things you see others doing that you currently can't due to your back pain...Basically a life without the curse of back pain.

If You Feel Let Down, Disappointed, And Even Sceptical About What Can Be Done To Help You, Then Read On...

My name is Wendy McCloud, one of the UK's leading back pain specialists, and I've been helping people like you live with much less back pain for 12 years now.

What we know is that so many people are confused or disappointed by the advice they've previously been given, unsure and sometimes even angry that they didn't get the results they were hoping for and promised and perhaps now are feeling sceptical about the chances of living with less back pain in the future... in fact a lot of people with chronic back pain cannot see a future that includes happiness and I speak from personal experience as I too am a chronic back pain sufferer but I have got my life back and I can totally empathise with anyone who is struggling with it... And that's why I created this free one hour Workshop entitled: “The Best Kept Secrets Of Easing Lower Back Pain And Sciatica - And Staying Better!” and I decided to make it free so my team and I can help as many people as possible escape the daily grind of back pain. It's FREE to you and a family member or friend to attend.

Here's What You'll Learn At This Back Pain Workshop

1. Discover how to get to the root cause of your back pain and make sure it never comes back
2. Why pills, visiting your GP, NHS physio, other private physios, spinal adjustments/cracking your back haven't solved your problem yet!
3. The number one cause of low back pain...Do you have this one?
4. The most successful treatments for low back pain that doesn't involve pills, injections or surgery.
5. Take home with you on the day the best exercises that will help you get out of pain fast and will help to get you more mobile and worrying less about your back.

We think when you come along that you will agree with many attendees who have come to this workshop before you, who now say that there truly is a life free from low back pain, even if like me have suffered for 20 years or more.

If you're currently seeing a doctor or another healthcare provider but not getting the results you are looking for, or you are thinking about going to see someone, or you are living a life popping gut rotting pills or you just don't know what to do for the best, then please consider coming along to this FREE 60 minute workshop which will reveal “The Best Kept Secrets For Living With Less Back Pain and Staying Pain free!”

You Should Attend This Workshop If:

1. You are aged 40+ and you suffer from low back pain – or pain, pins and needles or numbness in your leg that gets worse when you sit or stand or walk further than 10 minutes.
2. You have been told you've got sciatica and you have been given pills or told it's your age and you have to live with it.
3. You want to end this back pain naturally so you can get back to walking, running, cycling or whatever it is you are currently missing out on.

You Should Not Attend This Workshop If:

1. You are attending just out of "curiosity". We have just 10 seats available so please do not take up a seat from someone who genuinely needs and wants our help.
2. You have a closed mind and won't listen to or take on any new advice
3. You want your back clicked as you think that's the problem solved. All the clicks and cracks are a quick pain reliever and won't fix cause of the problem.

If You Meet Our Criteria Above Here's What To Do Next...

Please call us now. Lines open today at 9am. We only have "10" seats available for the next Workshop to be held on Saturday 15th June at 10am.

Please phone us today to register your interest, to ask questions or secure your seat by calling us on 01702 613542. You can leave a message, 24 hours and we will get back to you.

Sincerely, Wendy McCloud

P.S. This Back Pain And Sciatica Workshop will take place at our Southend Clinic, on Christchurch Road. Spaces are limited, so please call NOW on: 01702 613542 to secure your seat. Tea, coffee, soft drinks and refreshments will be provided for you. We know you will breathe a sigh of relief once you realise how easy it is to finally start living life again as you want, with much less back pain and without the need for pills, injections, scans, x-rays or surgery!

P.P.S. Just to confirm no-one will ask you for any money for anything else when you call 01702 613542 or you can go online at www.wdcphysiotherapy.co.uk/workshops to save your seat at this event.

MRI scans help take the guesswork out of pain

FOLLOWING months of being in pain, Essex businessman Michael*, was desperate for answers to what was causing his back pain. Self-employed, he was unable to take extended time off from work but was concerned not knowing what was causing his pain might be making the problem worse and was stopping him from receiving the most effective treatment.

Here, he tells his story:

"I work all over the country running my business and when my back started to hurt in 2017, I just put it down to sitting down all of the time and driving. But the pain, and limited movement, got worse and worse and I started to worry about being able to work at all.

"My doctor did their best, but it was guesswork really to find out what was wrong and causing the pain, so it was difficult to get an effective treatment plan together and a referral to the hospital was going to take months. Painkillers didn't really work and exercise and physio didn't seem to be effective either. I began to get worried it was something more sinister and it started to prey on my mind.

"A friend of mine mentioned he'd had an MRI scan which had helped them find out what was causing pain in his shoulder and neck and I knew there was a scanning centre locally, so I went online to MRI Plus in Leigh-on-Sea. It's literally a few miles from where I live in Essex and I found out I could book an appointment myself online, which I did, for the next day. This was all great, as I travel so much.

"As I didn't want to wait any longer than necessary, I also made an appointment with the in-house GP for a private consultation. She was great and saw me the next day. We talked about whether an MRI scan, ultrasound or X-ray would be best to help diagnose my problem and she referred me for an MRI scan. I did everything all on the one day, which was really convenient. Everyone was so friendly, from the receptionist who helped me make my appointment, through to the radiographer.

"I chose to have my results sent to my own GP, and it was a great relief to find out there was nothing too serious to worry about. And I had the results within two days too. Now we knew exactly what was causing the pain in my back, my doctor could refer me to the right people to help.

"My back is almost completely sorted now and I'm no longer worried about missing work. Being able to make an appointment at a local centre, at a time that was suitable for me and where I could be referred straight through for my scan was brilliant."

Do you want to find out what's causing your pain? An MRI, Ultrasound or X-Ray may be able to find the source of your discomfort.

What do I need?

You can be referred for a self-pay MRI scan by your healthcare professional (a consultant, GP, osteopath, chiropractor or physiotherapist). They'll give you a referral letter telling us which body area needs to be scanned to find the cause of your pain. You can also book your own private MRI scan – all we need are the details of a health professional to send your results to.

How much is it and how do I pay?

MRI scans start at £199, ultrasounds from £60 and x-rays from £49. Costs will vary dependent on which type of scan you require and how many body areas require scanning. And if you don't already have a healthcare professionals' referral, our private GP service offers fast access to experienced male and female doctors and appointments at a time convenient for you. Our GPs can make direct referrals to MRI Plus services such as MRI, X-Ray and Ultrasound scans and can make onward referrals if requested.

Now even air pollution is our editor's fault

YOUR editor must have read and sanctioned a piece written by Piers Meyler in the Yellow Advertiser dated May 24. For this reason I am contacting you.

I was state school educated along with a background of life experience and a common sense attitude I cannot believe anyone with an excess of education in relation to mine would even suggest that a reduction of vehicular speed resulting in a lesser emission from exhaust pipes anywhere is going to reduce air pollution.

And furthermore, that an editor such as yourself would buy into that suggestion.

Air and any form of exhaust emission cannot other than in a closed containing vacuum be contained.

Air and exhaust emissions do not and cannot remain in one place, when a vehicle progresses it pushes all in its path away from it which includes air and pollution said vehicle does not only pass through.

It is also imbecilic to suggest that slowing down on a stretch of motorway will have any effect on pollution as I have already mentioned airstreams and vehicular passage would push said air and pollution forward.

In my mind it is another attempt to penalise motorists through speeding fines in the guise of protecting the environment.

My final thought regarding air pollution is a common sense one. It is not possible due to where humanity is in the 21st century to resolve all air pollution, but reducing its adverse effect would be possible if all forms of contributors to pollution were illuminated. For example all forms of manufacturing, motor engines, cigarettes, chemicals, fires.

These suggestions are just a few the list goes on and on as the evolution of humanity has progressed.

From the days before the invention of the wheel and air pollution was at its lowest man has strived towards development and along with this progress the world has become what it is today.

Unless the footprint of man is reverted back to as humanity was before the invention of the wheel air pollution is only going to get worse and that's a fact believing differently is moronic.

My writing ability is that of getting to the point, I cannot compose as you and someone educated in this area are able, but I am not brain dead and do have the ability to see stupidity in all its forms whether written or oral, hence my response to Piers Meyler's piece and Basildon councillors' ridiculous suggestion a way has been found to reduce air pollution.

It seems the lunatics are running the asylum.

Respect on and off the sea at Stay Safe event

HOW amazing that the emergency services both on land and sea, come together for "Stay safe" at City Beach On Wednesday last.

On the face of it, A fun day aimed at the young, but actually it encouraged respect for behaviour and safety on and off the sea.

Thanks to, not just the obvious but the coastguard and the St John's Ambulance, who made everyone laugh with Bertie the Badger an immediate hit for pictures with young or older!

Cllr Mark Flewitt
St Laurence Ward

Giving up on no deal option was so stupid

THE Prime Minister is being forced to leave the sinking ship and the vultures have landed and they will try to convince the other failed Tories that they can do better.

The trouble is that no party can deliver on the referendum as they are afraid that the world will collapse if we leave the control of the EU.

Most MPs have no faith in the ability of the UK and the British people, unlike Winston Churchill who was a true leader and had faith in all of us.

Giving up the option of leaving the EU without a deal was the most amazingly stupid decision ever made and something that makes the negotiations of a good deal impossible.

The EU must have laughed their heads off when this decision was made and that means they are laughing at all of us.

As I have said, "Battles have been won" but now the war begins and this time we are not fighting any other country because the war must be fought within the UK with the battle lines drawn by the 2016 Referendum.

We can win this battle for once without loss of life and all we need to do is bother to walk to the polling station at the next General Election and vote.

As Paul Divine said in his letter last week, the present

MPs are clueless.

Time is right for the people to take back our democracy.

● Everyone is entitled have their opinions respected, but whatever you think of Donald Trump the recent opinions of Jeremy Corbyn and the Mayor of London do not have any respect from me.

Jeremy Corbyn is willing to meet up with murdering dictators but not the most powerful ally that we have.

How could this silly man be considered to lead the UK when he will not respect and meet other world leaders?

London's mayor of course has no right to judge Trump's plans for the USA, especially when he, unlike Trump, is a complete failure and a waste of taxpayers' money.

Keith Little Benfleet

Brexiteers are like lunatic children

POLITICAL parties fight to avoid extinction? Incredible. Extraordinary. Some cynics might think past performances says otherwise.

We're the fifth biggest economy in the world because we're part of the world's biggest trading bloc. Once we leave we'll become poorer – simples.

We'll become a world leader? Why? Who says so? Why should anyone deal with us when they can trade with 500 million people instead?

Why go to a corner shop when you've got a great big supermarket?

The English are not better than foreigners because they're English (I hate to break it to Brexiteers but the world is full of foreigners, all of whom don't like us overmuch).

Leavers say Eurovision is symptomatic of Europe and we should quit.

It certainly is – we've won five times!

We complain about European attitudes to us, but how about our attitude to them?

Brexiteers are like lunatic children with no answer except prejudice and promises.

Yes, we can survive outside the EU, but survival isn't what was promised. Increased prosperity and total autonomy were.

We care at Doris Jones

YOU'RE all angels... Too often we hear it said, "Care is such a thankless task." And it's fair to say that there's not nearly enough thanks given to the thousands of people, paid and unpaid, who care for us when we need a helping hand.

But it's just not true to say that care is an entirely thankless task. At Doris Jones, we have a mountain of evidence! Every week we add 'thank you' cards, letters and compliments to our files. And every kind word we receive from our clients and their families is passed on to the members of staff they mention.

The trouble is, although we all hear a lot of negative news about the care industry, we seldom hear the good stuff. And there's plenty of it. Just the other day, a long-term client of ours said on the phone to a member of our team, "I'm so thankful to be alive, you lot saved my life – you're like angels."

We don't drive ambulances or perform operations, but the care and support we and companies like us provide is hugely important to many people.

So just in case you work in the care industry, or you're helping care for a friend or family member, and nobody's said thanks to you for a while, take it from us, "You are wonderful and you do a truly amazing job. Thank you!"

Doris Jones Ltd provides a range of homecare services to clients and families in and around the Southend area. If you would like more information on our services – or you're interested in joining our team – please visit dorisjones.co.uk or call us on 01702 472954.

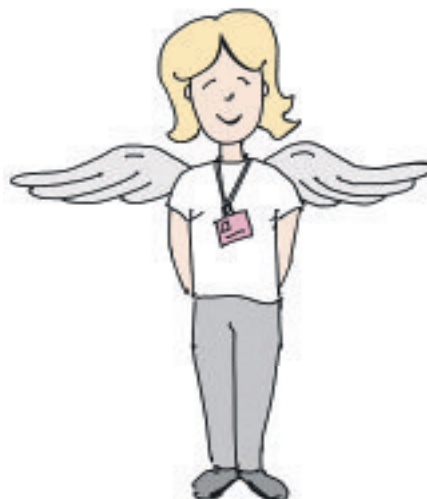

The best homecare

...relies on the best, most dedicated people

At Doris Jones, we're extremely proud of our people. From the dedicated team who provide care and support in the homes of our clients, to the office staff who work so hard behind the scenes to make sure everything runs smoothly and efficiently.

These are the people who make us stand out from the crowd. They're the ones who've helped us build such an enviable reputation for quality among local families, doctors, health and social care workers. As one client put it, "You're like angels!"

Our services are carefully planned around the needs of each individual client. They include:

- Washing and dressing
- Toilet visits and incontinence
- Cooking, housework and laundry
- Companionship and social activities
- Assisting with medication
- Physiotherapy and rehabilitation
- Dementia care
- End-of-life care

Please visit dorisjones.co.uk or call us on 01702 472954 for more information.

HELLO DOLLY!

Tribute to doyenne of country music comes to Basildon's Towngate Theatre

ICON: Sarah Jayne as Dolly Parton

COUNTRY Superstars, which arrives at the Towngate Theatre in St Martin's Square, Basildon on Thursday June 20, is hosted by Sarah Jayne who has been performing as Dolly Parton for over 25 years and is Europe's leading tribute to the Queen of Country.

Sarah Jayne and award-winning vocal impersonator Andy Crust take us on a journey back through time, meeting some of the most influential icons who shaped country music history.

The show features Patsy Cline,

Johnny Cash, Billie Jo Spears, Kenny Rogers, Willie Nelson, Tammy Wynette, Garth Brooks, John Denver, Glen Campbell and – new for 2019 – Shania Twain. The show also includes The Tennessee Allstars Band.

Each artist not only looks and sounds like the country star they portray, these professional performers transform themselves through hours of practice at their craft.

Every detail is taken into consideration from script, choice of songs, hair, make-up and mannerisms, as well as professional costumes and props.

Kenny Rogers himself stated on his website that Sarah Jayne and Andy Crust's Tribute To Kenny and Dolly is Europe's leading tribute act.

Country music will live on forever, a must see for any fans of the genre.

This tour proudly supports the Dolly Parton Imagination Library Children's Charity Dollywood Foundation.

A STARK OUTLOOK

Sophie Turner as Jean Grey in X-Men: Dark Phoenix

X-MEN: DARK PHOENIX (12A, 131 mins)

THE 12th film in the X-Men series gives birth to one of the most popular Marvel Comics characters under the direction of Simon Kinberg.

Ten years have passed since the events of X-Men: Apocalypse when Professor X (James McAvoy) and Magneto (Michael Fassbender) joined forces to eliminate powerful mutant En Sabah Nur (Oscar Isaac) by unlocking the devastating telekinetic powers of Jean Grey (Sophie Turner).

The year is now 1992 and the X-Men are routinely dispatched on missions that are simply too dangerous for humans.

During one of these escapades in deep space, Jean Grey is exposed to the effects of a solar flare, which unleashes her alternate personality, Phoenix.

She struggles to control this fiery alter ego, posing a serious threat to Mystique (Jennifer Lawrence), Beast (Nicholas Hoult), Cyclops (Tye Sheridan), Storm (Alexandra Shipp), Nightcrawler (Kodi Smit-McPhee) and Quicksilver (Evan Peters).

A parasitic shape-shifting alien (Jessica Chastain) exploits Jean's inner turmoil and encourages the young woman to experiment with her newfound powers with horrifying consequences.

You don't have to be a property professional to BUY or SELL at AUCTION

Auction is a great way to sell your property FAST for Full Market Value

"After months of difficulty trying to sell my property via estate agents in what is currently a challenging and fragile economy climate, I turned to the Auction House. This was my first experience in auction and I have to say I would recommend anyone who is considering selling their property to go to the Auction House in the first instance. The customer service I received from the team was first class and they made the whole process simple and smooth for me. We also achieved a fantastic outcome which was beyond our expectations".

Investor Property in Florida

Lawrence Antony Homes are pleased to present the opportunity of buying a second home near the magic of Walt Disney World in Orlando, Florida.

So why buy in Orlando? Well, thousands of Brits already have because the opportunity has countless benefits. First of all, value for money. A 4 bedroom detached villa with 2 or 3 bathrooms and a private screened swimming pool costs just £190,000. Furthermore, U.S mortgages are available upto 70% of the value of each property, so a cash deposit of around £55,000 is sufficient to purchase. Given the changes in stamp duty on second homes in the UK, many investors are looking abroad for alternatives and with no stamp duty on a purchase in Florida, this option is proving popular. Perhaps the best part of owning a home in Orlando is the ability to rent it out to holiday makers. Homes can rent out for anything from £450 per week up to a huge £1,400 per week for the most exclusive residences. Even the exclusive residences located on golf course projects with stunning amenities are available from around £290,000, so still significantly less than many alternative purchases.

Our Florida based partners take care of all the ongoing management of any homes sold and deal with the rentals in-house, therefore it really is a complete service offered. If you want to find out how easy it is to own your dream home in the Sunshine State of the U.S., talk to our in-house experts and call us on 01268 778333

Look! No mirrors for new Honda e

By David Whinyates

THE electric drive system of Honda's first ever battery-powered vehicle won't be its only novel feature – for it will be the first car in the compact segment to do away with conventional side mirrors.

Honda has confirmed that the side camera mirror system seen on prototype versions of its new Honda e urban electric vehicle will be fitted as standard when the car enters production later this year.

The camera system replaces conventional side view mirrors with compact cameras which beam live images to two six-inch screens at either end of the dashboard, providing, says Honda, a natural feel and vision for the driver.

The cameras are contained within the width of the car and do not extend beyond the wheel arches and, as well as improving visibility, reduce aerodynamic drag by around 90 per cent compared with normal door mirrors, resulting in an improvement of around 3.8 per cent for the entire vehicle and a significant reduction in wind noise at higher speeds.

The shape of the camera and the lens surfaces have a water-repellent between “normal view” and “wide view” via the vehicle normal view and approximately 50 per cent in wide view.

When selecting reverse gear, guidelines appear on the side view screens in addition to an enhanced camera angle which expands visibility.

Honda says that the system has undergone extensive testing and development to ensure superior visibility in poor weather, low-light and night-time conditions with no dazzle or glare.

This provides drivers with greater clarity and awareness of surrounding objects than conventional side view mirrors in all conditions, according to the Japanese company.

Brightness levels on the interior displays automatically adjust based on the prevailing light conditions.

Production versions of the new Honda e – which will have a claimed range of over 125 miles – will be unveiled later this year and potential buyers can register an interest or make a reservation via Honda's website.

unit housing is designed to prevent water drops on the lens settings, extending the field of vision further than with conventional mirrors and reducing blind spots by around 10 per cent in an interest or make a reservation via Honda's website.

SHATTERED DREAMS

Spurs hit by controversial early penalty decision in final heartbreak

Tottenham Hotspur's Harry Kane reacts after the final whistle

Football

by Brian Jeeves reporting

Metropolitano, Madrid

Tottenham Hotspur 0-2 Liverpool
TOTTENHAM Hotspur's dream of UEFA Champions League glory was ended as Liverpool capitalised on an early controversy penalty from Mohamed Salah before clinching their sixth title thanks to Divock Origi's late strike.

Underdogs, Spurs - competing in their inaugural final - faced a Liverpool side steeped in the history of the competition, having reached nine finals, winning five of them. Indeed, the Reds were beaten finalists a year ago.

However, Mauricio Pochettino pointed out that previous experience meant very little as kick-off approached, saying: "Football is down to footballers and they're the ones who will determine which way the result goes."

Somewhere in the region of 75,000 supporters from both clubs descended upon the Spanish capital, many without tickets. Those of a Spurs persuasion arrived Spain's newest footballing venue hearing the news that 24-goal Harry Kane was in the starting line-up, while semi-final hat-trick hero, Luca Moura, had to be content with a place on the bench.

Liverpool boss, Jurgen Klopp, had tasted defeat in each of his previous six finals, including the last hurdle of the Champions League with both Borussia Dortmund and Liverpool, but in an explosive opening minute Moussa Sissoko was adjudged - perhaps harshly - to have handled from Sadio Mane. The ball appearing to hit the Frenchman on the chest before bouncing on to his upper arm - Salah needed no second invitation in thundering home the resulting spot-kick beyond Hugo Lloris.

Spurs were clearly troubled by their less than perfect start. Trent Alexander-Arnold whistled the wrong side of an upright, while any forward motion from the north Londoners was largely snubbed out by a backline marshalled expertly by Virgil Van Dijk.

Tottenham required a foothold, they needed a spark, but the usual flair associated with the Lilywhites was missing as they struggled to make any real impact as an attacking force. Indeed, only the fingertips of Lloris prevented Andrew Robertson from doubling the Reds advantage with a speculative strike from fully 25-yards.

Undoubtedly, Spurs returned for the second period with a flea in their ear, looking to press far higher up the field in a bid to stifle the Liverpool threat. Heung-Min Son and Dele Alli were snubbed out, while Kane nodded over as Pochettino's men at last began to ask one or two questions.

Spurs introduced Moura for Harry Winks in a bid to recover the situation. However, it was another substitute -

Liverpool's James Milner - who was agonisingly close to all but killing the contest with a low, left-footed strike which left Lloris both stranded and relieved.

Alli headed over as Spurs continued to improve, albeit tentatively. But Reds stopper, Alisson Becker, was called upon when both Son and Moura warned his palms in quick succession as desperation began to kick in.

Alisson produced another top-class save, turning aside Christian Eriksen's angled dead-ball attempt, while Son will wonder how he missed the target after arriving at the far post from the resulting flag-kick.

But Tottenham's toil was to be undone in the final stages. Origi drove sweetly past Lloris, sending the Reds contingent into raptures as their love affair with the famous old trophy resumed after a fourteen-year absence.

Alisson again denied Son as Spurs - to their credit - refused to throw in the towel. But the battle was already lost.

After the game, a disappointed Pochettino said: "You can never believe you will be 1-0 down after a minute. Mentally it was very tough."

The Spurs chief continued: "I feel very proud about their effort, how we fight. We were unlucky, we concede a goal on a penalty. We were fighting, and we played so well in the second half."

"I feel so proud, a little bit unlucky. To start 1-0 down from the start was tough, we changed our plans, but we are very proud of these players and these fans. We can be optimistic."

Meanwhile, triumphant Liverpool chief, Jurgen Klopp, enthused: "Did you ever see a team like this, fighting with no fuel in the tank?"

Spurs - whether it be under Pochettino or in a different direction - are a club on the right lines for success. However, getting that first piece of silverware over the line has once again eluded them.

Carroll, Nasri and Adrian to leave Hammers

ANDY Carroll, Adrian and Samir Nasri are to leave West Ham this summer, the club has announced.

The trio, along with Spanish striker Toni Martinez, will depart when their contracts expire at the end of June.

West Ham joint-chairmen David Sullivan and David Gold said in a statement on the club's website: "Andy and Adrian have both been great servants to West Ham United throughout their time at the club and we thank them for their loyalty and commitment to the claret-and-blue cause."

"Both have provided us and our fellow supporters with some unforgettable moments."

"They can both be assured of warm welcomes whenever they return to London Stadium and we wish them, as well as Samir Nasri and the young players whose contracts are up this summer, the very best for their future careers."

Restaurant celebrates ruby anniversary

A popular Indian restaurant in Southend is celebrating its ruby anniversary. The Polash in West Road, Shoebury, is dedicating its 40th anniversary celebrations to the late MP MP for Rochford and Southend East, Sir Teddy Taylor and the late journalist Jim Worsdale, who were among their favourite customers, by donating their profits for the month of June to charities nominated by the men's families.

The business is also offering a ten per cent reduction on bills throughout June for their loyal patrons and regular customers.

Manager Mohammed Khalique, said: "Our love and thoughts will always be with them both."

"Through good times and bad, they both supported us and for that we will forever be grateful."

The business is family-run and the two men were part of the close knit group,

Mr Khalique added: "Sir Teddy played a big part in supporting my dad over the years and Jim Worsdale wrote our first review."

"I've known them since I was in nappies. They've been part of the business longer than I have."

A presentation has been planned for Saturday June 8, to commemorate Sir Teddy and Mr Worsdale.

The Indian restaurant is extremely popular amongst residents and visitors, as they offer table reservations and takeaways.

Birthday parties are also welcome with regulars bringing friends and family along to celebrate their special day.

The Polash receives glowing reviews on Trip Advisor, with the restaurant receiving a four and a half star rating on the website.

Jane Smith, one of many happy customers said: "The food is excellent and the staff are very friendly and helpful."

"An all-round excellent evening".

Helena Cochrane, added: "Great curry, a good friendly service. Always a great place to go for a meal."
